

Critical Biomass Removal on Irish Forest Soils The ForSite project is assessing the nutrient impact of increased biomass harvesting in Irish forests, by developing databases of nutrient exchanges, and a tool for forest managers and policymakers to assess biomass-harvesting scenarios against a new concept of critical biomass removal.

Tasks

Monitoring

Biomass nutrients

Mineral weathering

Runoff & leaching

Organic soils

Input-Output budgets

ForSite Tool

Dissemination & Policy

This is a static version of the ForSite homepage.

Page Status: draft